PORK PICKIN'S
Appomattox Pork Producers

Last Thursday, the South Central Feeder Pig Association held their latest monthly sale ever.

Over 80 producers sold 2370 head of feeder pigs at moderate to good prices. The top selling pen sold for $53.50 per cwt. with lower grades selling for much less. The spread between number 1's and number 4's was sixteen cents per pound. Proving once again, that is it really pays to produce quality pigs. A note one could make is that a large majority of the pigs sold went to Pennsylvania and North Carolina.

The Piedmont Pork Producers will hold their next regular membership meeting on Thursday night November 21st. The program will involve a presentation on Contract Marketing of Hogs.

The PPPA at their last board meeting also voted to make the Piedmont Market Hog and Trade Show a yearly event. The show will be held in September each year.

The South Central Feeder Pigs Association made its nominations for Pork All-American and the Pork Industry Service Award at its last meeting. Bobby Byran, a feeder pig producer from Buckingham County was nominated for the Pork All-American and Garland Thomas was nominated for Virginia Pork Producer award for producers over forty years of age. Mr. Thomas is from Charlotte County. Appomattox's own Extension Agent, Frank Sweet, was nominated for the Service Award for his excellent and hard work with the Jr. Market Hog Show and the First Annual Market Hog and Trade Show. Frank's interest in the youth of the area and in particular his work with the 4-H members in Appomattox county earned him this recognition.

Congratulations Frank for a job well done and for putting Appomattox youth in a winningposition at several of the shows in the past two years.

Raiders Drop Close Game To Rustburg's Red Devils

Some questionable calls from the officials and a couple of poorly executed plays may have cost the Appomattox Raiders third place in the Seminole District football race as they dropped a 14-6 decision to Rustburg Friday night.

The Red Devils scored in the second quarter on a 56 yard pass from Kenneth Tweedy to James Trent, and in the fourth quarter Mark Wright threw a six yard scoring strike to Gary Anthony. Wright then passed to Willie Clark for the two point conversion.

The Raiders only score came on a 58 yard pass from Mac Weaver to Ricky Wingfield on the first play from scrimmage following Rustburg's second touchdown.

Coach Jerry Robinson said, "I would just like to have one play over. I called a pass play on a second down and three situation. I think the play was alright, but it was not executed very well and Rustburg intercepted. I gave that a lot of thought over the week end and I probably would have called the same play anyway, but I would just like to have the chance to run it over."

Robinson declined to comment on the role the officials played in the contest, saying only, "Both teams were hurt by penalties. I thought there were to many flags thrown all night, but I can't say that we were hurt any more than Rustburg was."

Actually there were two very questionable plays. The two point conversion pass caught by Clark left doubt in many fans. Rustburg fans included, as to whether Clark was [illegible] when he caught the ball.

The senior flanker juggled the ball a number of times before finally dropping it some distance from the end zone. The official ruled that he had possession prior to stepping out of bounds.

The other play involved Weaver who was pulled to the ground by a Rustburg defender who used the face mask of Weaver's helmet to gain the proper leverage. On the previous play Weaver had completed a 32 yard pass to Mitch Eggleston to give the Raiders a first down at the Rustburg 47 yd. line. When the flag fell almost everyone thought that Rustburg would be penalized. The official ruled differently, moving the Raiders back 15 yards for a personal foul. The penalty killed what could have been a scoring drive late in the third period.

Appomattox, which had held its opponents to minus yardage rushing in the previous two games, yielded more yards to Rustburg on the ground than to any team since the second game of the season when William Campbell had a successful rushing game.

The Red Devils picked 99 yards on the ground and added 124 through the air to hold a slight total offense edge over the Raiders; who picked up 139 yards passing and 65 yards rushing.

Two huge losses while attempting to pass reduced the rushing total of the Raiders by a substantial amount.

Alvin Goff and Coy Williamson played tremendous defense for the Raiders as Goff had nine individual tackles and assisted on 11. Williamson had six individual tackles and five assists.

Mike Ramsey, Mike Quinn and Warren Coleman continued their excellent blocking up front and Keith Coleman did some good down field blocking as well as rushing for 26 yards and catching one pass for four yards.

Willie Lipford gained 33 yards rushing and caught a pass for 23 more while Eggleston caught a pass for 32 yards. On that play Eggleston lined up at quarterback, pitched the ball back to Weaver who then passed back to the sophomore, catching the Rustburg defenders off guard.

Friday night the second place Brookville Bees visit Appomattox in a key game for both teams. A loss could knock the defending champions from the second place spot into third, while an Appomattox win would bring the Raiders back into a tie for third.

The Appomattox County Junior Varsity captured a share of the Seminole District JV title with a 29-8 football victory over Rustburg last Thursday.

Ronnie Preston paced Appomattox with two touchdowns as he rushed for 160 yards. John Rothgeb and Jay Franklin each scored for the Baby Raiders who finished the season with 7-1 record.

Defensively against Rustburg, the Raiders were led by Tommy Goode, Bobby Harris, Andy Kelso and Rothgeb.
